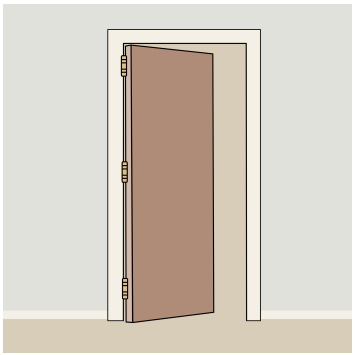
WHERE YOU'RE STARTING

Identify the Door

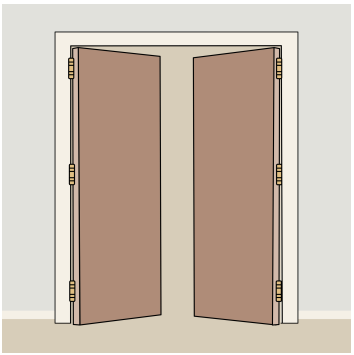
The door type determines what hardware is possible.

HINGED DOORS



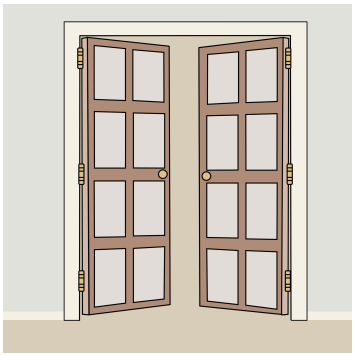
Standard Hinged Door

A single door mounted on side hinges that swings open and closed.



Double Doors

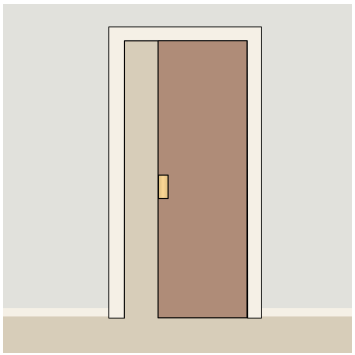
Two hinged doors that meet in the center and open from the middle.



French Doors

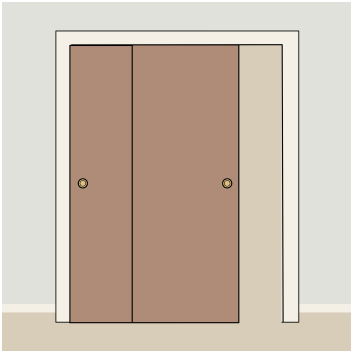
Double doors with glass panels that allow light and visibility between rooms.

SLIDING DOORS



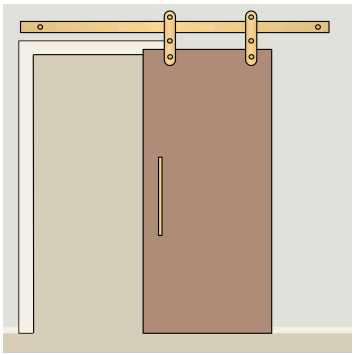
Pocket Door

A sliding door that disappears into the wall when opened.



Bi-Pass Doors

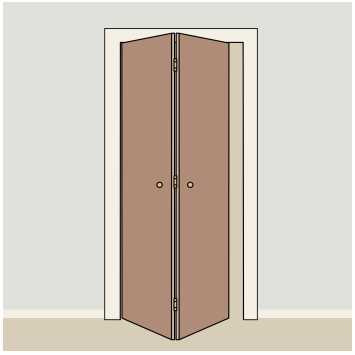
Two sliding panels that pass each other on a shared track.



Barn Door

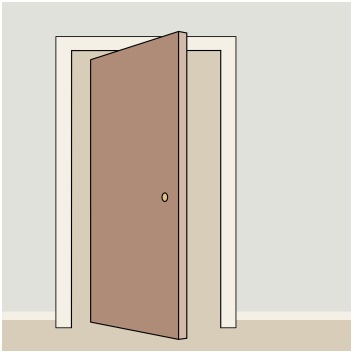
A sliding door mounted on an exposed track above the opening.

SPECIALTY DOORS



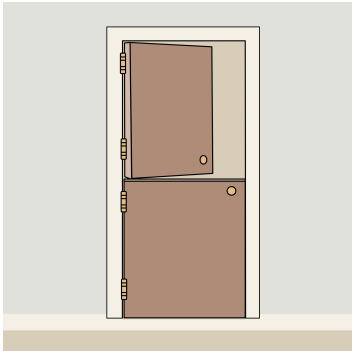
Bi-Fold Doors

Two hinged panels that fold together when opened.



Pivot Door

A door mounted on top and bottom pivots instead of side hinges.



Dutch Door

A door divided horizontally into two independently operating sections.
